THE FOREWORD

Kind reader! You are holding in your hands a copy of THE MONESSE 1928. It is the twenty-seventh Year Book that has been published by the high school students from Momence and the surrounding community. We hope that you will enjoy this little volume.

Preparing material for a Year Book is interesting but also very trying, and you will readily agree that it is impossible to produce a volume that will meet with the approval of all parties concerned. Furthermore, our finances are limited, and we cannot produce a book containing the latest of etchings and engravings. However, we have tried to produce as good a Year Book as our limited resources would permit.

THE MONESSE 1928 is a record of the year's events. No individual or organization has been mentioned or omitted in a spirit of malice or spite. On these pages we have tried to portray the M. C. H. S. spirit.

The Monesse 1928 Staff

"Read the foreword—neither Mark Twain nor Frank Shrontz could do any better."

THE FACULTY

Listen, my friends, and you shall hear
Some tales of our teachers so dear.
They are all supposed to be very wise,
But, sometimes we think them otherwise
Nevertheless, they've all come to teach us
Though oft it would take many a ladder to reach us.

Coming from sublime to the ridiculous,
Mr. Liljedahl with electricity can tickle us.
We sa re sure he is an excellent provider
For even does he save the poor little spider.
And as for band, he is a trump,
To beat him we'd be up a stump.

Mr. Hungerford, the farmer's friend
Now will find happiness without end,
May he with his crops have luck
For to feed a little mouth needs pluck.
And we hope his Ford runs with good cheer
To save expense for another year.

Our Colonial fathers with one breath
Shouted, "Give me liberty or give men death."
But with us Liberty is a name,
In Manual Arts he won his fame.
With hammers and saws pegs and pins
There is no liberty when the glue creeps in.

A Marcus we have though you may not know
That our coach at one time was christened so.
He's thorough in work, careful in thought,
Yes, exacting in all things he has wrought.
For him can we only make one plea,
That a lady will come who he can see.

We ask Miss Coontz very confidentially,
"Will we become as wise as you eventually?"
"Yes!" She will slyly say and whisper,
"Be what you are, and to nature be a sister.
Learn to understand God and man,
Then sit down and think all you can."

"I surpass the teachers—in height."—Harold Cromwell

Of Miss Palmer it can safely be said
All the History books are in her head,
And when in basketball she shows her strength
We know at center she can prove her length.
May she forever tramp the mountains,
And drink of all youth's pleasant fountains.

Miss Mauritzson herself must confess
Peroxide for her has been a success.
May she teach her French class as slow
Ass he trips on the light fantastic toe.
And we hope her body remains sound
As onward she struggles to loose her pounds.

Yes- From our own home town,
Comes the mathematician, Miss Brown,
She has found it a great pleasure
To teach Geometry by accurate measure.
And when warm summer comes
May it aid to Moore Brown sums.

A Miss Stone we have but not a Miss Rock,
She lices the beef steak and darns the sock.
She lives on a diet, a wholesome fare,
And all day long she has hardly a care.
She will certainly do her part
To fill some good man's heart.

Miss Westfall teaches not to bake,
But with quick fingers letters to make.
We hope her students give her their best
Even though they oft' times take a rest
And in her class we know 'tis a task
When mistakes need words that do not last.

If you have never visited Musical History
Then our class to you is quite a mystery,
For selections from Miss McNeil
Slowly into your soul would steal.
When she pours out strains for herself
Other composers will be put on the shelf.

"No teacher is equal to me in height."—Holsey Simpson.

Many a victim has been led through the hall
By Mr. Munson, the father of us all,
And should the guilty become insensible
They will be guided by The Invincible,
Then is when we wish he would shout,
"Those standing will please pass out."

May our teachers keep up their charity work,
And we, the heathens, never shirk.
We hope, when in May,
We can look back and say,
"Here's where we've worked and learned,
Our educational struggles we've earned."
Esther Mussman

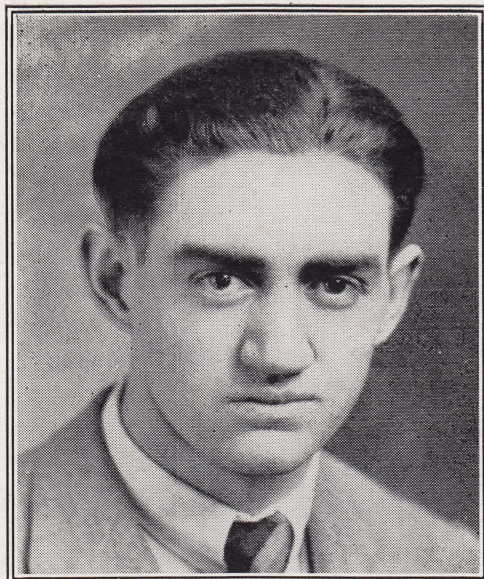

"Pains, reading, study are their just pretense,
And all they like is spirit, taste and sense."

"I love to associate with the intellectually fit,"—Fred Jensen

FOOT BALL

DALE BLOOMQUIST, Captain

Captan Dale Bloomquist ranks as one of the best football men who ever represented M. C. H. S. He was by far the strongest defensive man on the squad, and his generalship could not be questioned in offensive playing. Captain Bloomquist will undoubtedly make some college eleven. He graduates this year with the best wishes of teachers and students.

"There is no bottom in the basket ball baskets,"—Margery Esson

THE FOOTBALL SQUAD

HAROLD LIBERTY, Captain

Captain Harold Liberty was an outstanding guard on the basketball floor. He was not only a reliable defensive man, but he would frequently break through the opposition's air tight defense and throw a basket. He was fast on the floor and his passing was accurate. He graduates with the best wishes for success as a college player.

SENIOR PARTY

The Seniors had a class party in the new recreation room of the Conrad Bakery on Tuesday evening, November 29. The earlier part of the evening was spent playing "Bunco" and "Meow." Gifts were presented to the Seniors having the highest bunco score. Bernice Martin was the fortunate winner among the girls and Gaylord Wilson of the boys. The prizes were a Hershey bar and a package of chewing gum. A little later in the evening, the radio was turned on and some of the Seniors enjoyed dancing for a short time. A most delicious lunch was served after which the Seniors departed for home wishing that they were green Freshies once again.

JUNIOR PARTY

The Junior Class party was held at the home of Lyeth Tabler. The early part of the evening was spent in playing "Bunco." Prizes were given to the boy as well as to the girl having the highest score. The winners were May Royse and Edwin Getting. A most delicious lunch was served after which Santa Claus appeared and distributed presents. At eleven o'clock the familiar voice of the chaperone was heard, and the Juniors departed for home.

YEAR BOOK BANQUET

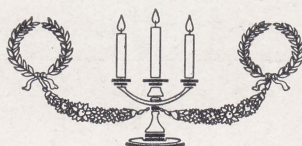

The annual year book banquet for teachers and students of M. C. H. S. was served at the Woodman hall on Monday evening, February 20, at 6:30 o'clock. The banquet was served by the Royal Neighbors. The three course menu proved to be very delicious and each course most excellently served. The tables were artistically decorated in our high school colors, cherry and white, with bouquets of carnations and red streamers. The place cards were something very unusual in design and certainly clever. The banquet is one the annual social events for the high school students and is enjoyed more than any other event during the school year.

After the banquet Mr. Liljedahl led in the singing and Miss Bernice Martin played the accompaniments. Raymond Mullady, a popular member of the Senior Class, proved to be a most successful and humorous toastmaster, and interesting responses were made by the following:

"I'm Laking, not lacking."—Edith Laking

BOOK REVIEW

HOW SHEEP RAISING WILL RELIEVE THE AGRICULTURAL DEPRESSION by Uane Unton, published by Langman, Doree and Company, 1928. This recent volume contains an interesting account of an experiment which the author observed during a period of nearly a year. In spite of the agricultural depression which prevailed throughout this section of the middle west, sheep were placed on this farm, fed, cared for and sold at a substantial profit and thereby made the farm a financial asset during this year. The book is not a theoretical discussion but explains every step of this practical measure. It has all the data tabulated in logical form. Price 75c providing the purchaser pays cash.

THE LOCATION OF A FARM by Arold Iberty, published by Langman, Loris and Company. The author has made an intensive study of this question. He is firmly convinced that every worth while farm must have a suitable location. To all people contemplating moving to a farm he recommends the selection of a farm along a state paved highway. Such a farm can always be reached regardless of weather conditions. The book may have its shortcomings but it, nevertheless, presents a very sound argument. The price is only 50 cents in cash or a dozen and one-half of eggs in exchange.

THE SOUTH SIDE DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION by Edgie Ardy and Ita Eber, published by the Weber Publishing Company. This little pamphlet is very optimistic in tone. It presents the advantages of the south side in a clear and concise manner. While one of the authors was born and reared on the north side, he firmly believes that the future of Monesse depends upon the south side. He urges all investors to consider the south side carefully. This little pamphlet may be had for the small sum of 10c, plus postage.

MONOPOLIZING THE STREET by O. Urdick, published by the United Cigar Stores and distributed free of charge. This booklet does not contain an explanation of all the advertising schemes. It is rather a manual of where to locate your store so that you can depend upon a good trade and a profitable business. It presents a very strong argument for stores on both sides of the same street so that you can get all suckers going and coming. This manual can be had for the asking or by writing and sending the necessary postage required for mailing.

Mr. Liljedahl called at one of the local dentist's the other day. He was soon seated in the dentist's chair and the dentist asked, "Will you take gas?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Liljedahl, absent mindedly, "And you'd better look at the oil too."

Miss Palmer: "Wilmont, what is the Order of the Bath?"

Wilmont Tremore (puzzled): "I don't know. I come first, then Ancil, then Eugene, then Maurice and then the baby."

Mr. Hungerford: "What is average?"

Richard Johnson: "A thing to lay eggs on."

Mr. Hungerford: "What makes you say that?"

Richard Johnson: "Well, my mother says that one of our old hens lays five eggs on an average."

THE VOICE OF FRESHMEN HIGH SCHOOL BOYS:

Lester Barrie: "All the world except the United States is in the Temperance Zone."

Kenneth Burton: "The sun never sets on the British Empire because the Empire is in the east and the sun sets in the west."

Gilbert Bydalek: "The Minister of War is the clergyman who preaches to the soldiers."

Fowler Clarke: "The king wore a scarlet robe trimmed with vermin."

Merton Davis: "Woolsey saved his life by dying on the way from York to London."

Jack Elston: "After twice committing suicide, Couper lived until 1800 when he died a natural death."

Hubert Franklin: "Barbarians are things put into bicycle wheels to make them run smoothly."

Varnum Parish: "Polonius was a mythical sausage."

Exor Guertin: "Thomas Jefferson was like the common people because he had red hair."

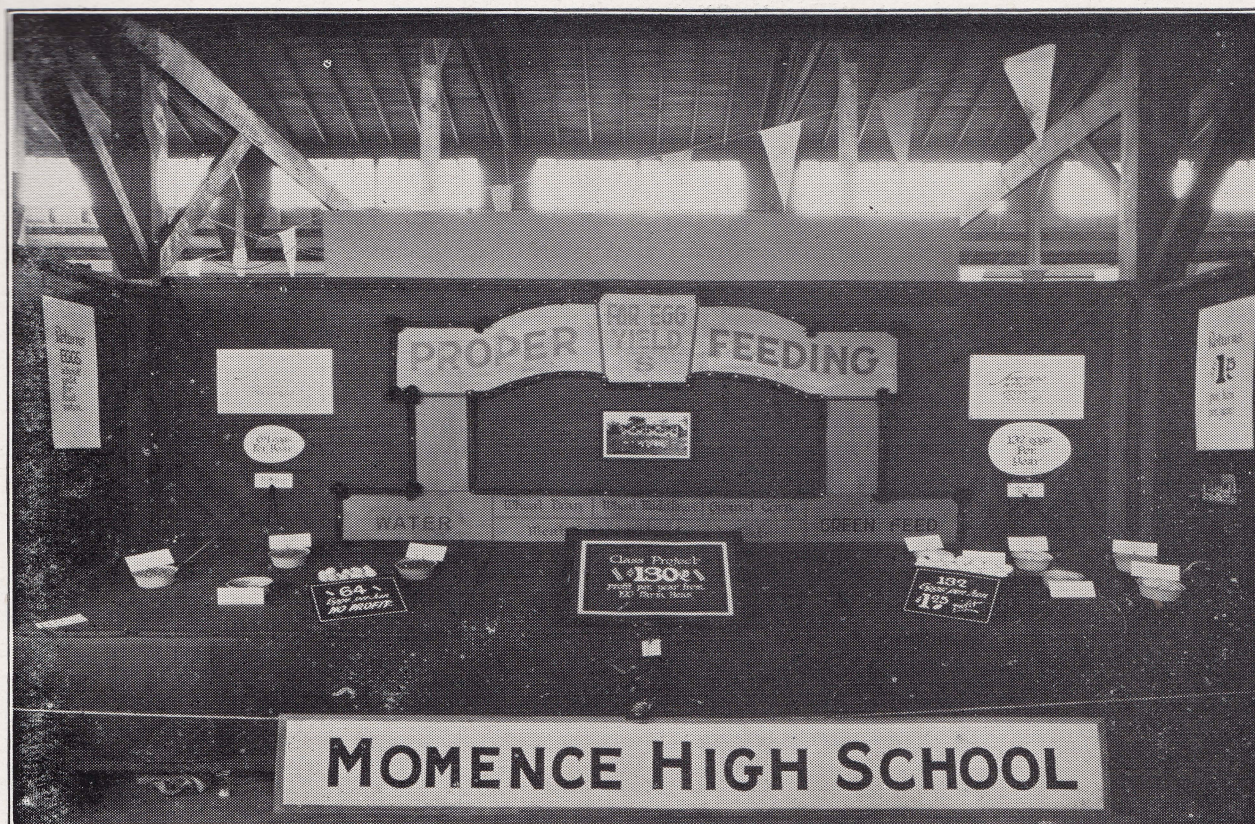

Albert Harris: "The French Revolution was a machine which the Frenchmen revolved."

Charles Harwood: "Manual Training is a course in whittling and glueing."

Edmond Hess: "The Seniors sit upstairs because the brighter you are the higher you go."

Herbert Linedmann: "A county teachers' institute is a place where all the teachers of the county meet to learn how to whip kids."

William Pearson: "Beans are productive of brain food providing you don't get hit on the bean."

"JAHN & OLLIER AGAIN"

FINE annuals, like brilliant victories, are brought about by the co-ordination of skillful generalship and trained effort. The Jahn & Ollier Engraving Co. is America's foremost school annual designing and engraving specialist, because in its organization are mobilized America's leading creative minds and mechanical craftsmen.
